Banquet of the Richmond Chapter Last Night a Delightful Affair.

SEVERAL FINE SPEECHES MADE.

Judge Lamb Presides and Bushes, Professor Kent, and Dr. Hodges Respond to Tonsts-Future of the University Bright.

The banquet of the Richmond chapter of the Alumni of the University of Virginia last night at the Jefferson Hotel a brilliant event, and probably eclipsed any former effort of the association in this direction. The large dining-rooms of the Jefferson were decorated the colors of the University-orange and blue-which presented quite a pretty contract with the beautiful ceilings.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock when the alumni marched into the banquethall in a column, two abreast, and took their seats. The banquet itself was a most elegant cellation, and it was some time after 11 o'clock when the clears and wines were reached and the speeches

Among the most prominent of those present were Hon. James C. Lamb, Rev. Dr. Pike Powers, Professor C. W. Kent, and Messrs. John L. Williams, W. R. Meredith; L. D. Crenchaw; J. W. Schoey, of London, Eng.; W. O. Nolting, W. P. Reddy, Dr. Benjamin Harrison, W.

James C. Lamb, the toastsides James C. Lamb, the total ster, made the opening remarks. He erred in beautiful and touching gauge to the sad disaster which befell a University, when the grand and ble institution—the pride of Virginia was laid low in ashes. He said that all that had been lost on that fatal day had been almost compensated for in the reat sorrow which had stirred the hearts of her alumni. That October 19 ther alumni. That October day had been her Easter morn. "She has turned for face towards the east," he said, "to rest the dawn of a better and nobier

MR. HUGHES'S FINE SPEECH.

Judge Lamb then announced the first bast—"Virginia and Her University"—shich was responded to by Mr. Robert M. Hughes, of Norfolk, president of the state Ear Association.

Mr. Hughes spoke of the love which the whole South bore to Virginia's University.

RESPONSE OF DR. HODGES. dige Lamb then announced the next which was "The divers schools of University, like the colors of the dram, beautiful in their variety, they is up the white light of universal truth, the full fruition of manhood." This was responded to by Dr. J. Allison Hodges, of this city. The speaker referred to the grand gathering at Monticellofour days ago, where beautiful tributes were paid to the founder of Virginia's Freat institution. Thomas Jefferson. "I

Dr. Hodges referred to the Medical Department of the University, and his remarks on this subject elicited the greatest enthusiasm.

The next toast was to have been responded to by Hon. Charles T. Faulkner, of West Virginia, and was "Education in business, and the dignity of money," but the Senator from this State could not be OUTLOOK OF ARTS AND SCIENCES.

OUTLOOK OF ARTS AND SCIENCES.
Professor Charles W. Kent, of the University, responded to the last toast, "The outlook of the arts and sciences; the office and responsibility of the University." The speaker bogan by referring to the destruction of the University by fire. "The glory of this latter house shall be greater than the glory of the former." "I accept the words." said Professor Kent. "Over and over again, in association with my collegiates, I have said that this disaster may be the great opportunity of the University. I believe that her glory has really but begun, and that we shall yet hear of her influence throughout the country." The speaker, in concluding, referred to the present work of the institution. Said he: "You who have seen the glory of the former house may come back to her and see, I hope, even in a few years, that the glory of this latter house shall be, may is, greater than the glory of the former."

A Woman Addicted to Drink.

A Woman Addicted to Drink.

Justice Crutchfield had a most pitiable case to deal with yesterday morning. It was that of a white woman, who had been found in a saloon intoxicated, with her baby in her arms. Mrs. Faunie Taylor was once the fond mother of a happy family circle, but reverses came, and she sought consolation and forgetfulness in drink. Becoming addicted to the habit she soon neglected her home and children. After hearing the distressing story the Justice required security in the sum of 50 for her good behavior for sixty days, which was furnished by Granville Hord. Ed. Hicks (colored) behavior for sixty days, which was furnished by Granville Hord. Ed. Hicks (colored). The case of Virginia Miller (colored), who is charged with the larceny of a lot of dry goods and crockery, the troperty of E. Coplan, was continued until the 18th. Jasper Taje, a small colored boy, who arrared with being a suspicious character, received a "dressing down," as the Justice calls it, by his mother after court.

Miss Bancker at the Academy.

Miss Emily Bancker and her excellent company returned to the Academy last night, after an absence of a month, and, though the audience was small, the performance was most refreshing. The programme was a double bill, introduced by a one-act drama by W. S. Gilbert, entitled, "Comedy and Tragedy," followed by "Our Flat." a breezy farce-comedy, by Mrs. Musgrave. Miss Bancker was charming in the several roles that the two pleces required her to fill. In "Our Flat." Miss Bancker, as Margery Sylvester, who is never at a loss for words with which to pacify her creditors; Miss Ainta-Vemo, as the droll housemaid; George W. Parsons, as the striving dramatic author, and Fhilip H. Ryley, as the unsuccessful actor, were all excellent, and more thoroughly established the successes made by them before. A mating this afternoon and this evening's performance will bring the engagement to a close.

"'Twas ever thus." One day we ride upon the crest of the waves of joy, and everything assumes a roseate hue; the next, we are cast down in the slough of despair, and the roseate hue gives place to a tinge of blue, and our cup runneth over.

thus it is in the base-ball world. Were it not for the ups and downs in the national game, 'twould long ago have lost its interest for the genus crank, and the bleacheries at West-End Park would never have been.

The league season opened Thursday afternoon, and the Bluebirds defeated the Roanoke Goats, and joy in Richmond reigned supreme. Yesterday, the Blue-birds again met the Goats on the diamond, but, oh, how different was the result! Instead of achieving a glorious victory, as all had anticipated would be the case, the Birdlings were thrown down and trampled upon by the Quadrupeds, and the 1,600 cranks who witnessed the slaughter left the park with heavy hearts and downcast heads.

A SHAME! A SHAME!

'Twas a shame! That's what it was; but it couldn't be helped. The Bluebirds fought manfully for supremacy, but Mr. Chesbro's delivery was too much for them, and they had to yield the palm to him. Chesbro is a short, trick-set little fellow, whom Roanoke has engaged to do the twirling for them. He is a good one. He has speed to burn, and he knows how to use it. He didn't resort to any curves or trickery yesterday, but just staved 'em in over the plate as straight as he knew how, and the Bluebirds couldn't touch him.

Ames was in for Richmond, and he riso had speed; but he was found with greater frequency than was his opponent, and thereby hangs a tale. The Goats didn't outplay the Bluebirds, though they did equally as well; but they used their sticks more effectively, and batted out four runs, while Richmond was only able to score one.

WAS EXCITING THROUGHOUT.

Neither team scored until the fourth inning, and matters began to grow exciting; but in this inning the Champions broke the spell, and when Chesbro presented Groves with his base, and Boland drove the sphere into deep centre, scoring Groves, and bringing himself up on third, pandemonium broke loose. The side was retired ere Boland could reach home, but all were content—Richmond was in the lead.

The Goats didn't do anything in their haif of the fourth, and the Bluebirds were blanked in one, two, three order in the fifth; but then there came trouble. The Mushroom lads came to the bat, and Sullivan led off with a double into deep left field; then Tate followed with a single into centre field, and Sullivan came over the rubber. Gochnour put a single into Groves's territory, Neither team scored until the fourth in-

THE THING WAS SETTLED. THE THING WAS SETTLED.

It is needless to tell of the rest of the game. Richmond was defeated then and there; for, try as they would, the Bluebirds could not get another man in home. In the elepth they got the bases full, and, with two men out, Berte came to the bat and struck out, and killed all of Richmond's chances for victory.

The score shows how 'twas all done. Read it; then pause, and shed a tear;

In the second inning Roanoke had a man on third, with no one out, and Ames shut off the run by striking out two of those who confronted him.

Tull's running-catch of Wells's fly, in the fourth inning, and Sweeney's capture of Williams's fly, in the same inning, were clever pleces of work. Sweeney is playing a great game now.

Berte's error was made on a slow-hit ball. He went at it wrong and juggled it. Wells fumbled an easy grounder, which caused his error.

Bolund's single was hardly a hit, though it had to be so scored. Had Chesbro thrown the ball promptly be might have retired Danny at first.

They Win Another Game from the Petersburg Parmers.

LYNCHBURG, VA., April 17.—(Special.) Ten to three in favor of the home team was the result of the ball game this afternoon between Lynchburg and Petersburg. Up to the eighth inning the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of the visitors, and it looked as if Lynchburg would meet her Waterloo; but, thanks to her heavy hitters, a victory was batted out in the last two innings, amidst the mighty applause of the multitude.

Evans and Armstrong, the opposing pitchers, did good work, and the score would have been closer but for the rank errors of Kane at second base, who, la the cightli linning, was substituted for Shoits, the latter having been put out of the game by Umpire Wood for disposition of the part of the part of the linning of the part of the linning red severe discipline.

THE BUDGET PASSED

The Board Concurs in the Ordinance as It Came from the Council.

WAS THE ARTICLE CHANGED!

Mr. Snead Makes a Mysterious Statement Regarding a Publication, Yet to Appear-Mr. Blake on Good

The Board of Aldermen in an adjourned meeting last night concurred in the annual budget as it passed the Common The Board, after being called to order, at once went into the consideration of the ordinance from the Finance Com-mittee cancelling appropriations for the year 1855, and making appropriations for 1896. The protest from the Baptist Ministers' Conference against appropriations to denominational charities, was, on motion of Mr. Tanner, taken up and City-Clerk August read the ordinance. When the items on the budget for charities was reached Mr. Snead moved that all appropriations to sectarian institutions be stricken out. He said about eight years ago he made a similar motion, which was defeated.

Mr. Noble asked whether these Institutions made reports to the city as to how these sums were expended, and Mr. Hardwicke explained that they submitted reports to the Committee on Finance and were compelled to receive a certain number of inmates from the city.

SHOULD NOT TIE UP THE BUDGET.

Mr. Tanner moved that the appropriations as agreed upon by the Committee on Finance be restored, but Chairman Hardwicke, of the Finance Committee, advocated the passage of the budget as amended by the Common Council. He was opposed to tying up the budget which would be the result of the adoption of either Mr. Snead's or Mr. Tanner's motion. Mr. Noble said he was glad to see that the chairman of the Finance Committee had grown liberal recently, as he had heretofore for the past two years argued that the recommendations of the Finance Committee should be adopted. Now. Mr. Hardwicke did not seem to hold such a view.

Mr. Turpin spoke in favor of allowing the appropriations to stand as they came from the Common Council. He said that all the talk about those small donations uniting the Church and the SHOULD NOT TIE UP THE BUDGET.

and inductaries in the city of Richmond, not more than twenty-five were paying it to the city, and two of those twenty-five were members of the City Council.

WHO ROBBED THE CITY.

The President was followed in his remarks by Mr. Blake, who touched the Good-Government movement up. The present City Council, he asserted, would show this city what good government was. The Democratic League would do some good, declared Mr. Blake, who asserted that the very men who were at the bottom of this movement were those who had already sücked the Hig-blood out of the city, and were now anxious to get in and suck the rest. The city had been robbed, Mr. Blake averred, saying that he would be the man to tell the citizens of Richmond who had robbed them.

After further discussion of a general nature the Board concurred in the budget as it came from the Common Council, the vote being is yees and I nay, Mr. Ngble casting his vote in the nexative.

In view of the statement made by Mr. Snead regarding what he had heard about the Frank Lessie's Monthly matter, Mr. Allen suggested that the President of the Board should write to the publishing-house concerning it. This President Turpin consented to do.

The Board refused to concur in the action of the lower branch allowing Mt. Cavalry Cemetery to connect with the water-main on Randolph street, and the paper was sent back to the Committee on Water.

A number of frame-building permits were granted.

President Turpin offered an ordinance, amending the ordinance regulating the duties of the Special Accountant by giving him power to investigate any city department of his own accord. The paper went to the Finance Committee.

From the Committee on Streets came a resolution, appropriating $5,000 in bonds for the construction of sewers. It was a referred to the Committee on Finance.

A resolution from the same committee, appropriating $1,100 in grade and pave with granite spalls the east side of Twenty-first street between Frankin and Broad streets. Adopted.

keep the books at all, but simply kept memorardums furnished him by Mr. W. C. Adams, the Superintendent of the Gas-Works, Mr. Warren, by his own statement, never having seen the original-entry books of the gas-works during his tenure in said said office, and during which time the accounts of the gas-works show that the total receipts at the gas-works from February 1, 1888, to July 1, 1889, was 585, 584.72, while the payments made to the Treasurer for the same period amounted to only 20,923,47, leaving a deficiency of $5.656.55. We therefore submit that Mr. Warren deserves the censure of this Council for being disloyal to the city and unfaithful to his trust, for, though he claims to have known his duty yet he did it not. "Be it resolved, by the Council of the city of Richmond, the Common Council concurring, hat Mr. E. J. Warren be, and he is hereby, censured for having carelessly and unprofessionally kept the books of the gas-works between the period from February, 1888, to June 29, 1889, during which time a deficit is shown of $5.69.25.

Mr. Hardwicke moved to lay the matter bear the period for the EVAN SNEAD.

Mr. Hardwicke moved to lay the matter on the table, as it was unfair to vote to censure Mr. Warren without giving him an opportunity to be heard. The question evoked considerable argument, and the report and resolution accompanying it were finally tabled.

An ordinance offered by Mr. Hardwicke, authorizing the refunding of water- and gns-bills paid more than once, was adopted, and the Board adjourned, at 10:45 o'clock.

Now. Mr. Hardwicke did not seem to hold such a view.

Mr. Turpin spoke in favor of allowing the appropriations to stand as they had a view. The propriations to stand as they said that all the talk about those small denations untiling the Church and the state was absurd, with all due respect. He was a Baptist, but thought if the State would withdraw all its said from the sectarian institutions, they would make the Episcopal Home would Episcopalise anyone, or that the money given to the Little Stater of the Poor would make anybody a Catholic. President Turpin paid these institutions, especially the Little Staters, a very high and sincers.

North Carolina Pops and Republican

and Will Toke Advantage RALEIGH, N. C., April 7,-The P.

Republican sub-committee, of which Sens-tor Pritchard, Congressman Settle, and State-Chairman Holton are members. The State-Chairman Holton are members. The Populist committee submitted its demand as a prerequisite to fusion, this demand being that co-operation shall be solely upon a preamble and resolutions signed by Henry M. Teller and seventuen United States senators, including Pritchard, declaring for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of its to 1 by indeof silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 by inde-pendent action of the United States, and in favor of a tariff sufficient to equ the cost of production in the United States and in European and Asiatic coun-tries. The Republican sub-committee de-

States and in European and Asiatic countries. The Republican sub-committee declined this proposition, saying it would not abandon the Republican organization in North Carolina; and submitted one dividing the State offices, the Republicans to name the candidate for Gevernor; providing for complete congressional and legislative fusion, and ratifying and confirming an agreement harvefore made, according the senatorship to the Republican party, the Populists to support such nominees; each party to run its own electoral ticket. Senator Pritchard says that he peremptorily refused to support any independent free-sliver electoral ticket, and that he intends to abide by the action of the National Republican Convention when it meets at St. Louis, it is understood that all opposition by Republicans to Senator Pritchard is to be withdrawn, and that he is to be unanimously nominated.

The Populist State Committee, without a dissenting vote, declined to accept the Republican proposition for fusion upon the basis of a division of the State offices and a pledge to vote for a Republican senator. This ends all prospect of fusion, so far as the committees are concerned. The State conventions of the two parties can, of course, review their action. There are broad hints to-night of revolt of part of the Populists against their committee's decision not to fuse with the Republicans. One Populist has made public threats of this sort.

The Populist State Committee adjourned late this afternoon, after appointing Senator Butler, Representative Shuford, W. A. Guthrie, and ex-Congressman W. H. Kitchin to prepare an address to the public, The Republicans say they look for a split among the Populists, and intend to take advantage of it. The Republican leaders met here to-night, and will make an official statement. Senators Pritchard and Representative Pearson attended the meeting.

Exchange for Woman's Work

The regular meeting of the Board of Managers of the Exchange for Woman's Work was held yesterday at 12 M., with Managers of the Exchange for Woman's Work was held yesterday at 12 M., with a large attendance.

The Exchange has been visited by a great many townists during the winter and spring, especially by the hotel Jefferson guests. Many of them made purchases of different kinds to take home as souvenirs. This has been a source of pleasure to the board, and it has greatly asided in helping many, who are dependent upon the sale of their consignments for their support.

This is the season when every one is supplying themselves with fancy needle-work for the summer. The Exchange is a convenient place to purchase such articles, as especial care is taken to keep in stock a full supply of superfor embroidery, sikes, Battenburg braids, thread, and patterns, which cannot be obtained elsewhere in the city.

Commenced pieces of embroidery can be obtained in an unlimited number of designs.

The special sale of preserves, pickles, jellies, and brandled peaches, advertised for Friday, still continues.

To-day we shall close our store at 7:30 o'clock P. M. It is necessary to do this, in order that we may arrange the immense lot of Wash Geods and other goods that arrived in such quantity this week, for Monday morning sales.
